2013 Living Out Loud Gala & Auction
Saturday | April 27, 2013 | 6 pm

St. Louis Ovarian Cancer Awareness is committed to impacting ovarian cancer survivorship by promoting awareness of early warning signs and standards of care, funding ovarian cancer research, and supporting survivors.

Each year, almost 22,000 women in the United States are diagnosed with ovarian cancer and about 15,000 women do not survive.

Most cases are diagnosed in their later stages when the prognosis is poor.

If diagnosed and treated early, the five-year survival rate exceeds 40 percent.

Unlike breast and cervical cancer, ovarian cancer has no diagnostic test for early detection.

As a result, awareness of symptoms is essential to early detection and survival.

SLOCA is an all-volunteer non-profit organization. SLOCA's mission-focused programs include:

- Funding an annual grant for ovarian cancer research through the Foundation for Women’s Cancer.
- Distributing awareness materials at health fairs, festivals and the Working Women’s Survival Show.
- Making presentations to groups in civic, school, church and business settings.
- Sending trained survivors to speak to classes of medical, nurse-practitioner and physician assistant students throughout metro St. Louis.
- Conducting a targeted marketing and media campaign for Ovarian Cancer Awareness Month in September.

Living Out Loud is SLOCA’s premiere fund-raising event. 100% of the proceeds raised for this event directly benefit SLOCA, our mission and the women we support.

Become a 2013 Living Out Loud Sponsor

Sponsorship of the 2013 Living Out Loud Gala & Auction provides corporate and individual supporters an opportunity to make a positive impact on the fight against ovarian cancer by demonstrating social consciousness, humanitarianism and philanthropic generosity.

Your support will help SLOCA even the odds against ovarian cancer.

Join us on April 27, 2013, at the corporate headquarters of Edward Jones, for what is certain to be a night of celebration, support and success. Support SLOCA in the fight against ovarian cancer by becoming a sponsor of this important event.

The success of this event is due in large part to the involvement and commitment of its sponsors. Our goal for this event is to raise an additional $125,000, to support and continue our mission.

Your Sponsorship allows SLOCA to:

• Increase the number of broad-based awareness campaigns we can do each year.
• Fund more research grants.
• Develop more programs to support women with an ovarian cancer diagnosis.
